

Before putting my phone number on the privacy list we received a call most week nites. Now we get one or two a month and when we get them we ask for there phone sales permit number and remind them that this number is registered and they hang up on us.

We have since signed up for two "distinctive ring" numbers that the kids use and once a week or so a call comes in on their numbers that are unlisted. Some sales just gernerates all possible phone numbers and hopes for hits.

Dinners are much more peaceful and I don't think I've missed anything by not winning all those free trips and airline tickets.

Indiana Privacy laws have been just what the doctor ordered. Peace, quiet and no telephone abuse.
